Auditor's Office to host six public tax reduction events this summer

Mobile offices will allow residents to discuss property tax issues, remedies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (July 5, 2018) – Franklin County Auditor Clarence Mingo announced today that his office will host six public Tax Reduction Mobile Events at library locations throughout the county in July and August.

Franklin County residents are invited to attend these mobile events which will highlight information on the various tax reduction programs the office offers. Staff will also be available to discuss home sale prices and their impact on homeowners throughout the county.

- Tuesday, July 10 from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Whetstone Branch (3909 N. High St., Columbus)
- Tuesday, July 17 from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Parsons Branch (1113 Parsons Ave., Columbus)
- Friday, July 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Gahanna Branch (310 Granville St., Columbus)
- Tuesday, Aug. 7 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Franklinton Branch (1061 W. Town St., Columbus)
- Monday, Aug. 13 from 12:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Northside Branch (1423 N. High St., Columbus)
- Monday, Aug. 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Columbus Metropolitan Library's Whitehall Branch (4445 E. Broad St., Whitehall)

"News of rising home sale prices and gentrification have been dominating news cycles for the better part of this decade in central Ohio," Mingo said. "We remain committed to informing residents that our office can and will help offer solutions to reduce property tax concerns."

The Franklin County Auditor's Office hosted five Q&A meetings throughout the county last summer and 17 Informal Value Review sessions in September 2017. Earlier this year, the office also hosted seven Board of Revision mobile offices.

Property owners who cannot attend these mobile events can call the Franklin County Auditor's Office at 614-525-4663 or email ClarenceMingo@franklincountyohio.gov with questions.
